

Our vision is to build a website that users can buy tickets to events. We plan to allow for users to search for events, allow them to purchase tickets to that event, and email them a receipt. To accomplish this we plan on building a database to store users info as well as event information/ticket inventory. Once we have completed these base requirements, we plan on evolving our system to allow for users to select their particular seats, as well as add the event to their google calendar.
